

Three Journeys

Three different people each take a separate journey. One of those journeys is illustrated through a distance-time, another through a speed-time graph and the final through an acceleration-time graph. Describe the three journeys, concisely and completely.

